Linden Species are mostly large, deciduous trees, reaching typically 20 to 40 meters (65 to 130 ft) tall. Young linden trees have nearly smooth grey bark. Old trees have grey to brown bark which is shallowly fissured. Linden produces broad, heart-shaped, asymmetrical leaves with pointed tips and serrated edges.
The Flowering Crab tree is a small, deciduous tree found primarily in the temperate zone of the Northern Hemisphere. These trees typically grow to be 4-12 m tall, and possess distinct white, pink, or red petals when in bloom.
Sienna Glen Maple features showy clusters of red flowers along the branches in early spring before the leaves. It has green deciduous foliage. The lobed leaves turn outstanding shades of orange, red and burgundy in the fall. The furrowed grey bark and brick red branches add an interesting dimension.

CAO's Corner

Hello residents and businesses of Petrolia! I am your Chief Administrative Officer (CAO) and Treasurer. My CAO's Corner will provide you with some interesting facts and information about the operation of our great Town. I would like to thank Laurissa, our Director of Marketing, Arts and Communications for all her efforts in managing and producing our Petrolia Connection. There is a lot happening in our Town and our Petrolia Connection helps to keep us all informed.

For my first article, I will focus on federal and provincial grants which are critical to municipalities obtaining free-money to help fund the replacement or additional of key municipal infrastructure. Without federal and provincial funding municipalities would not be able to address their critical infrastructure needs or would have to significantly increase the local property taxes, water or sewer rates. Canada, like many countries has a huge public infrastructure deficit (such as roads, bridges, safe drinking water systems, and sanitary and storm systems) estimated at several hundreds of billions of dollars. Canadian municipalities own and manage about 60% of public infrastructure across Canada, but receive less than 10% of government revenues. Municipalities are dependent on federal and provincial capital grants. Replacing and maintaining municipal infrastructure is essential for residents to have safe drinking water and safe roads.

Like most things, there is never enough money to meet all the needs of municipalities. Municipalities must apply for the federal and provincial grants which are very competitive. There are 444 municipalities across Ontario. Fortunately, the Town of Petrolia has been very successful on applying for grants. The graph below summarizes Petrolia's capital grant approvals for the past number of years.

Staff do not have authority to approve grant agreements with the province and/or the federal government. Council approval is required prior to the Town of Petrolia committing to any federal and/or provincial capital grant program. The agreement, called a Transfer Payment Agreement, is a detailed, legal document committing both the federal and/or provincial government and the municipality to many conditions on both sides. These agreements are usually 20-50 pages long. The Transfer Payment Agreements are presented to Council for consideration and Council approval is requested for our Mayor and our Clerk to sign the agreements on behalf of Council. This year we received grant approval for almost $12 million on our $16.2 million Water Treatment Plant In-take replacement project which is critical for the Town to maintain our safe drinking water system. Our current In-take is at the end of its useful life of 80 years. We also recently received a $700,000 grant to improve our recreational facilities at our Petrolia YMCA. Staff are always on the look out for grant opportunities for our Town. As mentioned, these grant programs are very competitive and are getting more and more complex to complete, requiring a lot of dedicated staff time. Many municipalities use private grant writing companies, but at Petrolia it is our staff that do all this work, except if the grant application requires some detailed engineering work. For example, our grant application for the $12 million Water Treatment Plant In-take grant included several detailed engineering reports.

I hope you find the CAO's Corner informative and interesting. I welcome any suggestions for future topics. Have a great day!
