There are 5 TREES AVAILABLE this year

Autumn Blaze Maple
Fire-red fall colour, virtually keyless, up to 50 feet tall.

Sugar Maple
The shape of the sugar maple leaf is well known, as it's found on the Canadian flag and is the national tree of Canada. Sugar maple gets its name from the sweet sap it produces, which is used to make syrup. Other maples can be used as well, but their sap is not nearly as sweet. It takes about 40 litres of sugar maple sap to make 1 litre of maple syrup. Sugar maples can live for more than 200 years. Typically grow to 35 meters tall.

The Flowering Crab tree is a small, deciduous tree found primarily in the temperate zone of the Northern Hemisphere. These trees typically grow to be 4-12m tall, and possess distinct white, pink, or red petals when in bloom.

Celebration Maple
features showy clusters of red flowers along the branches in early spring before the leaves. It has green deciduous foliage. The lobed leaves turn outstanding shades of orange, red and burgundy in the fall. The furrowed gray bark and brick red branches add an interesting dimension. Typically grow to 40-50 feet tall.

Ivory Silk Tree Lilac features showy plumes of fragrant creamy white flowers rising above the foliage from late spring to early summer. It has dark green deciduous foliage. The pointy leaves do not develop any appreciable fall colour. Typically grow to 20 feet tall.
